

September, 2015

A month – not even that – in Künstledorf Schöppingen and I've created a fantastic portable display for my Magic Wands.

In North Rhine-Westphalia, as I write, there's an Urban Art Festival in full swing, and I am participating! <http://www.stadtbesetzung.de/>

Of course, I will do some nice urban art in Schöppingen and some of the cities around it – I have something in mind to share with you in the next newsletter.

Before that, though, I will take advantage of the hurly burly September spirit in Berlin to show selected magic wands to the wider public strolling through art fairs. Out of my thoughts I will make a choral work, so I am planning to have lots of me, each wearing portable displays of magic wands, walking along the corridors of the fairs. We will also be selling - magic wands.

Not just that. As I said here (http://antomarinov.de/neu/information_statement.html) I sell magic wands and distribute Give & Takes. So the next Give&Take will be installed in (Köpenickerstraße 70, 10179) Berlin during Berliner Liste.

This one will be special: it's made to exchange works of art.

When you come to visit the Berliner Liste don't forget to bring an art work of yours for your anonymous collector.

When you come to visit the Berliner Liste don't forget to bring a bag with you for your gratis piece of art.

Story

Especially to my fellow woman artists: go early very early to the hardware shop and the department responsible will listen to your question and treat you well.

I did so, and imagine: a box full of 4x10 nails fell from my hands. I made to collect the little things spread all over, when the salesperson responsible swept them away with his foot, grasped my arm saying „um Gottes Willen lassen Sie es!“ (Something like "For God's sake please don't.")

Just between us

Martino, my son, is turning six this month. Bogomil, my father, is turning eighty this month.

I Met

Gaia, Simone, Bella, Ajay, Monika, Nikola, Matilda, Tom, Jason, Rolf, Anne, Piera, Angela, Ellen, Sneki, Ariel, Danielle, Elias, Markus, Stefan, Thomas, Josef, Sasha, Assunta, Alfredo, Cristina, Uta, Bettina, Minne, Hannes, etc.

It happened

I have had the kind of summer I like: working with art, enjoying good people and good weather.

I have visited Casa Baldi in Olevano and fallen in love with Fougerette in Etang. Ready for autumn!
